

Application GRANTED. The parties are cautioned, however, that the Court is unlikely to look with favor on any application to extend these deadlines further. For now, the April 28, 2020 pretrial conference remains in effect. In the parties' pre-conference letter due by the Thursday before that conference, see ECF No. 329, at 5, they should indicate their views on whether there is a need for the conference and, if not, an approximate date to which they think it should be adjourned. The Clerk of Court is directed to terminate ECF No. 407. SO ORDERED.

Re: City of Providence, Rhode Island v. BATS Global Markets, Inc.,
No. 14-cv-2811-JMF

Dear Judge Furman:

The Parties in the above-referenced matter write jointly to request a modification of an interim substantial completion deadline set forth in the Court's Civil Case Management Plan and Scheduling Order. ECF No. 329 ("Scheduling Order"). For example, ¶ 3.b. provides that "[p]roduction of documents that may be used by the parties in connection with Plaintiffs' motion for class certification and Defendants' motion for summary judgment on grounds of preclusion . . . shall be substantially completed by February 28, 2020." See ECF No. 329. See also id., ¶ 4.b. (setting February 28, 2020 deadline for interrogatories). Certain threshold issues and motion practice (of which the Court is aware from prior correspondence) delayed the entry of a protective order and ESI protocol, which in turn delayed the production of certain nonpublic data and documents. While the Parties have begun producing data and documents, significant discovery remains, including the production of voluminous order-level trading data from Defendants (which, despite its volume, the Exchanges believe will be substantially complete within the next 90 days), the negotiation of search terms and custodians and production of responsive materials with respect to all parties, as well as substantial discovery the parties served on Plaintiffs' third-party investment advisors and brokers related to Plaintiffs' class certification motion, which Defendants believe is necessary to (a) identify any orders and trades associated with Plaintiffs within the Exchanges' order-level data or (b) evaluate what impact (if any) other orders and trades might have had on orders and trades associated with Plaintiffs.

The Honorable Jesse M. Furman

To allow the Parties sufficient time to complete production of the discovery necessary for the purposes of Plaintiffs' motion for class certification and Defendants' motion for summary judgment on preclusion grounds, and then satisfy the other related scheduling deadlines, the Parties respectfully request an extension by ninety (90) days of all currently pending deadlines in the case. See Appendix A. While the timing of aforementioned third-party productions are somewhat out of the Parties' control, the Parties are making progress. The proposed modified schedule and comparison with the existing Scheduling Order is set forth below.

The Parties have not made any prior requests for adjournment or extension of deadlines in the Scheduling Order. The parties are next scheduled to appear before Your Honor for a status conference on April 28, 2020.

Thank you for your consideration of this request.

Respectfully submitted,

By: s/ David W. Mitchell
